

PROPOSED THAT THEY BOMBARD MADISONVILLE.

Union Man in Recent Central City Meeting Wanted Ten Shooters From Each Local.

MUCH GRUMBLING AT STRIKE ASSESSMENT.

All Guns Sent to Sturgis and Will be Forwarded to Linton, Indiana.

OTHER SHOOTINGS THAT MISCARRIED

Central City, Ky., Sept. 29.—(Special).—Your correspondent attended a called meeting of United Mine Workers at Central City recently. About fifty men were present. This meeting was not called by the regular officials of the order, but by would-be-officers, one of whom wanted ten nery men from each local to storm and bombard Madisonville. He proposed to move with his army from Sturgis, where the guns of the order are now kept.

The regular officials of the order opposed such foolishness and it was voted down. One of the regular officials said the order had tried this sort of business once in Hopkins county and lost out, and that he would quit the order if any more shooting was done. Another official said if the nery men wanted to go on their own hook they could do so, but that no U. M. W. money would be used to defend them.

There were two St. Charles men present, one of whom by name of John — claimed he had shot at a St. Bernard man recently, but missed him, but that he would take better aim next time.

The fifty-eight guns that were kept in a certain boarding house in Central City were recently sent to Sturgis.

There is much grumbling at the assessment of ten per cent. for the Pennsylvania strike fund. A Hillside miner claims that his board, assessments and dues, and bank expenses left him but fifteen cents for the two weeks work. A Central City miner replied that the "scabs" in Hopkins county were making far more money than the union miners in Central City. Whereupon Hillside stated that "the union has been a detriment to the miners for two years past. I'll tell Jim Wood or any of them that the union only benefits the officers and is only a d—d expense to the miner. Wood and them fellows run around and have a good time and us poor devils have to pay for it." The Central City miner replied, "That's me exactly and there are two-thirds of the miners right here in Central City that feel the same way, but the d—n fools have not got the nerve to say so."

At the big picnic at Sturgis, Saturday, it was voted to send the seventy-five guns on hand to Linton, Ind. Some of the Sturgis men wanted to go to Hopkins county and bushwhack. A noted organizer, who has had trouble with the law, told them they could go to Hopkins but that they would run into a bad lot of men, who keep well posted on the doings of the U. M. W. A prominent official stated that Hopkins county could never be won peacefully. At Sturgis a negro was given a thrashing by white U. M. W.'s because he was noisy in a meeting.

I learned at Sturgis that the guns which had been at Madisonville have been taken to Sturgis. I have the names of the parties who packed them up and carried them away from Madisonville. Also know where they were kept in Madisonville.

I am told certain officials of sub-district No. 1, in July last, planned to put a lot of armed men into the cornfield close by the Reinecke mines to shoot into the men as they came from work, a large number of U. M. W. to be holding a meeting in the court house yard at the same time, the purpose being to prove an alibi if the shooters were found out. But there were not enough nery men to volunteer.

I am in a position to keep The Bee advised of warlike movements by Wood and Barnaby, and will see that the paper is kept advised. A MINER.

stage. "Down in Hopkins" will be the title, but we venture to say that Wood will never play the part he took when leading the gang in Hopkins. If he would only show up in his true character as seen down here a one night's stand in a town would be too long and the demand for stale eggs would be far beyond the supply, but evidently the drama, if such it can be called, is founded on fiction and not on facts.

Superintendent Harris has become so accustomed to see U. M. W. buttons worn about Mortons for the past two years, until very recently, that it is now told on him that he has offered 60 cents to any one of the once famous gang of idlers who will muster up enough courage to wear one. They now number so few and are so thoroughly disrusted with their past conduct that they are now afraid to be recognized as one.

Foreman Toombs has put a new fan in at No. 11 ready for work and a new engine house at Victoria mine has been completed and both scales at the latter place overhauled and put in first class shape.

Foreman E. L. Stokes says his new palace stable down in the No. 11 mine has been completed and naturally he feels proud over the fact that he has had the honor of building for the St. Bernard Mining Company the first stable to be built under the ground by that company.

The construction force under the supervision of Foreman Toombs, we are told, will soon commence work on a new tip and trestle at No. 11 mine and will also put in a new shaker screen there. In fact, the building crews now at work for the St. Bernard Mining Company are rushed with work. An additional trestle will soon have to be built for the new coke ovens fast nearing completion, and it looks like the day of rest for our carpenters is not near by.

One of the U. M. W. sympathizers living at Mortons, who has been trying to ride two horses going in opposite direction by trying to be for and against the gang received quite a shock one day last week when he appealed to Sturgis for support in a project he had under consideration and was told plainly that no consolation by way of help would be given him because of the activity displayed by him in behalf of the union mine workers when he thought their star was in the ascendancy, but whom now he had forsaken when defeat was written upon their banner.

Another illustration of how even a good man can be blinded and deceived was shown recently, when Rev. Samuel Fallows, Presiding Elder of the Reformed Episcopal Church, made a tour of the anthracite coal regions to ascertain the true conditions of affairs as they exist there. We take it for granted that there is no middle ground to occupy in the controversy now going on in the strike region, and that the Bishop has about as much human nature about him as the rest of us, who always take sides even in a dog fight and that he went there strongly prejudiced in favor of the strikers, which fact is made plain when he stated that "Mitchell he could not speak too highly of." He quotes no operator, yet he went there to get both sides. This reminds us of a similar occurrence taking place here last year when the Governor sent General Murray here and, of course, as was the case with Bishop Fallows, the U. M. W.

heard he was coming and therefore the best of order prevailed and the strikers' tale was believed. But you will see from a perusal of the clipping here reproduced that the Bishop, although highly praising Mitchell, says nothing against him for the leading part he takes in making coal thieves of an "honest old Scotchman" and two Poles, who, according to his own statement, were caught stealing coal," which the reverend gentleman calls "picking coal" and which poverty was brought on by the gang calling a strike. The Bishop says: "The relief fund is being disbursed with admirable discretion." Yet it is evident that none or very little cash ever reached the pockets of the poor miners, hence they are compelled to resort to "picking coal from an abandoned mine" and to do without their liquor:

"At no time while we were in the coal regions did we see a drunken man. I was amazed at the peace and order everywhere, after the reports of riot and mob violence I had read in the newspapers. Day before yesterday," said Bishop Fallows, "in Shenandoah they had what they termed 'an awful row.' We took the trouble to investigate it, because we wanted to know both sides. We found that two Poles and an honest old Scotchman, named Sandy McLaren, had been caught picking coal in an abandoned mine belonging to the Girard estate. The Sheriff said he was unable to arrest these men, so a troop of cavalry and a troop of infantry were called out to take Sandy and his friends into custody." Bishop Fallows says further, concerning the relief fund, that it is being disbursed with admirable discretion. "I find that, thanks to this fund, there is surprisingly little suffering in the miners' homes. I had expected to see the most abject poverty, but I find that the majority of the families, while they live frugally, are in no danger of starvation so long as the relief contributions continue to come in."

The new coal company lately formed at Henderson to develop coal land south of that place have been forced, so rumor states, to abandon their effort, on account of too much water flowing into the shaft. Another location will be sought.

From many parts of the state there continue to come glowing reports of oil wells struck. Last week five new wells were sunk in Knox county, yet nothing cheering or flattering is heard from the many tests being made in that part of the state.

The Globe-Democrat, in commenting upon the anthracite strike, says: "The disorder in the strike region is ominous. When this comes the end of the contest is usually near at hand. The chances are that the strike is almost over. The operators have been boasting that from 60 to 80 percent of the strikers would return to work if the organization would let them, and many of the strikers themselves have been saying the same thing. It now looks as if a break was near."

Last Saturday was another busy day for the clerical department of the St. Bernard Mining Company. It being pay day and thousands of dollars being paid out, naturally the boys were kept hard at work seeing that everybody received their just dues.

Bishop Fallows says the reports of riots and disorder in the anthracite regions are exaggerated.

FACTS & FICTION

The Fairview Review in last week's issue contains an article from the pen of "Maxie." It is unusually interesting on account of the hero, a one-legged man, doing stunts and performing feats of agility as he chases a negro boy around the room. In the beginning of her effusion, which was evidently copied verbatim from a dime novel of the blood and thunder variety, Maxie says her hero was profusely put together; her meaning here is a little obscure, as the man could not have had a profusion of legs, arms, &c. A little further on she refers to the shriek of a bull-frog. This could not have been a Kentucky frog, if so it was strangely at variance with its kindred around Earlinton. It must have been a new variety with a steam calliope attachment. We are a little inclined to think Maxie kinder overlooked her hand on this article and we would advise her never to attempt to write unless provided with Webster's Dictionary and a pictorial history of frogs and their habits.

J. C. H. in the Review last week got off some verses in which he alludes to us as "Old Blue G." We take exceptions to this. We are not old; it does not follow because one's pale dome of thought glitters like moonlight on the snow, that he is old. In the second verse he makes News and fool rhyme. In the third printer and sinner, and in the fifth verse he says "Same old snakes crawling out of the shoes." We would like to know if this is personal or to what shoes he has reference. Poets are allowed a great deal of latitude, J. C. H., but you want too much. Why could you not have said:

Same old office,
Same old pay,
Handed out
On Saturday.
Same old office,
Same old tools,
Monkeying around
Same old mules.
Same old office,
Same old type,
Same old printer
On the swipe.

The rhythm of your verse may be alright J. C. H., but your feet are not mates.

Miss Alma Powell, an actress formerly the wife of Ward Headley and now leading lady with the Robinson company, playing in East Lynne at Cincinnati, had a scrap with Miss Helen Nixon last Monday on account of the latter's wearing a better and more showy dress than she did, says the Cincinnati Post. Miss Powell is well known at Princeton and Madisonville.

Over at Hopkinsville recently the town was nightly stirred up by a Methodist revival and among the brands garnered from the burning was a notoriously hard but who, for convenience, may be designated Bill. Religion took hold of him like a case of cholera morbus and his growth in grace was so rapid that after a few sessions at the mourner's bench he passed around the contribution box. While thus engaged, as he approached the rear of the church, he came upon a bunch of his old companions in worldliness, who had come out expressly to see him perform. Bill was equal to the emergency, and as none of the sinners in question showed any inclination to contribute, he leaned over and said in a sepulchral whisper, audible in all the church: "Shell out, boys, salvation is free, but it costs like h—l to run a Methodist church."

President Milton H. Smith says the Providence branch will not be put through to Shawneetown any time soon. Mr. Smith is in a position to know.

F. A. Benham, of Texas is now working on the Henderson Division as brakeman. He is a brother to Conductor Oscar Benham.

Switchman Hey Lane has about recovered from his recent serious illness and has gone to Lismann, to spend a month.

Conductor Jas. Sparrow is off on account of sickness.

The Louisville Times says: "You might travel from Cincinnati to New Orleans over the L. & N. and not find a more efficient or popular official than Capt. W. T. McAtee, the conductor on the star run between Louisville and Nashville. For twenty-five years he has been punching tickets. He is one of the best posted as well as the most courteous men on the road. He goes out every other night on No. 1, which is a flyer.

A special from New Decatur says: Work on the new buildings for the enlargement of the Louisville & Nashville railroad shops here is being pushed. Over fifty men are at work. Besides the enlargement of the present buildings an entirely new building, 261x75 feet is to be erected. In this building car axles will be made. This will be an entirely new feature of the Louisville & Nashville, as they have never manufactured their car axles. These shops have but recently completed an order for 350 box cars and will soon start work on 500 gondolas. They have orders on hand at present for over 1,800 new cars.

Wat D. Rutherford, of Ravenna, went home last Thursday sick with malarial fever, and has been confined to his bed ever since, but at this writing he seems to be getting along very well and will probably be able to sit up in a few days.

J. M. Roberts, for a number of years local freight agent of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, has been promoted to the double position of general freight agent of that company and general agent of the Gulf Transit Company, which handles all the exports from this port for the Louisville and Nashville Company. C. F. Giles, who for fourteen years has been master mechanic of the Pensacola shops of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, has been promoted to the position of master mechanic of the Louisville shops of the company.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

The following taken from the Manufacturers' Record indicates that Senator Deboe, of Marion, has made all the necessary arrangements to become a mine operator of Western Kentucky:

"The Senate Mining Company, Frankfort, Ky., with $100,000 capital stock, has been incorporated. Senator W. J. Deboe is the chief stockholder. The other incorporators are J. H. Morse, Carl Henderson and C. E. Well-don, all of Marion, Ky. The company will mine fluor-spar, lead and zinc. Its holdings are in Crittenden county."

When the fact is taken into consideration that only about 18 percent of the striking miners in the East and 75 percent of the balance cannot speak the English language, you cannot wonder at the defiance hurled at the laws. Hungarians and Slavs that work their wives and daughters down in the mines cannot be expected to make a model citizen of this country, where they came, not for the love they bear the country, but as a sojourner after money only.

Superintendent Harris, of South Diamond mine, came over last Saturday and reports a prosperous time at his mine. Only a scarcity of cars sometimes prevents the men from working six days per week.

Superintendent Crutchfield is still making a noble fight against that dread monster, disease, with strong hopes of yet winning.

One who knows whereof he speaks says that a large body of mineral lands have been already secured by the St. Bernard Mining Company down near the line of Hopkins and Webster counties and that a mine may be opened there soon.

President Baer, of the anthracite operators, says the miners were averaging $1.98 per day when they struck. That don't look like starvation wages, as Mitchell would have people believe.

Rumor says that ex-President Wood, of the once notorious army of agitators who made a raid upon the honest miners of Hopkins and Webster counties, committing more or less depredations, is now busily engaged upon a play to be soon put on the

AMONG THE FINANCIERS.

Secretary of the Treasury Lending His Steady Hand to the Troubled Money Market.

DISCUSSES SITUATION WITH BANKERS.

The Secretary Says He Is Assured That Forty Million Dollars in Cash Will Be Raised as the Result of His Action in Regard to the Bank Reserves.

New York, Oct. 1.—Secretary Shaw was an early visitor at the sub-treasury Tuesday. Secretary Shaw came to the financial district for the purpose of discussing the situation with bankers. His early callers included President Geo. F. Baker of the First National bank, Francis L. Hyn, vice-president of that bank, and Vice-President Vanderlip of the City National bank. The secretary remained down town the greater part of the day. He expressed himself as being gratified at the improvement shown by the money outlook.

In an interview the secretary said that all savings bank securities accepted by the treasury department in place of government bonds would be of the highest class, panic proof and as good in London as in New York.

The secretary said he had been assured that fully $40,000,000 cash will be released as a result of his action. Among the secretary's other callers were W. A. Nash, president of the Corn Exchange bank, and chairman of the clearinghouse committee; Jos. C. Hendricks, president of the National Bank of Commerce; W. H. Perkins, president of the Bank of America, and James A. Blair. The representatives of two leading bond houses also conferred with the secretary who left for Washington Tuesday night.

STATEMENT BY SECRETARY SHAW.
The Secretary of the Treasury Explains His Action.

New York, Oct. 1.—Secretary Shaw gave out the following statement Tuesday:

"The department is in receipt of a large number of requests from various banks in the country, clearly showing that the statement of Monday night was misunderstood, or rather that it was not carefully read. That there may be no misunderstanding the following statement is made:

"No new deposits will be made on any security other than government bonds, so long as government bonds can be secured. For the present banks seem to be able to obtain, frequently by borrowing, bonds other than two per cent. consols. They can obtain the use of these bonds for a limited period, and they are as desirable as any for security for deposits. They are not as desirable as security for circulation, for the reason that circulation based thereon is taxable at one-half of one per cent, while circulation based on government bonds is taxable at only one-tenth of one per cent. The banks can not obtain except by purchase any bonds as a basis for circulation, because when deposited for circulation they can not be released until the circulation is retired, and it may take a year before their circulation is retired, and the price of bonds is so high that bank circulation is maintained at considerable loss to the banks. They must be constantly sold, or circulation constantly contracts.

"Therefore, the department has decided to release, for such banks as have deposits and not maintaining their limit of circulation, a portion of the bonds now held by the government, taking in lieu thereof other satisfactory security on condition always that the bonds released will be used for the immediate issue of additional circulation. This provision does not apply to those banks that already have their maximum circulation, neither does it apply to banks that do not have any deposits. The sole purpose of the offer is to increase circulation that is already printed and ready to be issued, and by banks that already have the bonds on deposit. These banks are scattered throughout the entire country, the relief offered, it is believed, will be national, rather than local, for it applies to all sections of the country, and to every state in the Union."

Secretary Shaw, during the afternoon, received a number of telegrams from a number of bankers from various sections of the country, commending his action.

Carr Nation said from New Haven, Conn., Oct. 1.—Through one hour filled with side-splitting comedy, Carr Nation stood on the granite steps of Osborn Hall, Tuesday, and talked of prohibition and grand subjects to a cigarette and pipe-smoking assemblage of Yale students. She was forced to admit that it was a strenuous effort.

CAIRO STREET CRIES.

Strange Sounds and Queer Voices That Travelers Hear in the Egyptian Metropolis.

Take a chair outside a busy cafe near the market place and tram center and watch street life. There are no hungry men, no starving, plucked birds, no finger-wringing mothers, for this is a land of plenty and the people's wants are few and simple. Thus sunshine and laughter spray a welcome fragrance over the novelty and romance of the gay city streets, says the London Traveler.

Here is a street model twanging a monstrous one-stringed "something," and accompanied by a nose-ringed girl who taps deftly on a species of tambourine, while bystanders ejaculate "Allah! Allah!" the Arabic word for applause. If not quite in accord with your prejudices concerning music, really marvellous (never mind, it is not nearly so distracting as a street car at home, and they will go away if you tell them). The baboon, the donkey and boy are in evidence, with a score of performing tricks that are very original and certainly funny, and you console yourself with the hope of a minimum of cruelty in the training.

A fruit seller, basket on head, with silver grapes and figs, samaras and oranges, in a quaint manner "O grapes, O sweet grapes, that are larger than doves' eggs and sweeter than new cream." O angelic, delicious figs, bursting with honey, restorers of health!"

There is a drink seller, bent under the weight of the odorous jug, slung along over his shoulder, a lump of ice projecting from his mouth, conjuring custom in a similar strain, as he struts up and down, making the air around with the rhythmic clasp of two broken saucers: "O refreshment of the weary! O quencher of parched lips! O blessing of heaven!"

Another street cry, which may be heard in the main street of Abbasieh (a suburb), contains the following enticing announcement: "Tomorrow, O people, I am going to the doctor. The doctor says it is young and healthy. Oh, his flesh will be tender as the quail and juicy as lamb. Its price is but one and a half piasters (2 cents) a pound. Do you love the sweet flesh of a camel, then come early and be satisfied."

Not the least picturesque figures in the streets are the city police, in their neat white drill and red tarboches in summer and blue serge in winter.

Eight cents a pound is what a young woman paid for twelve pounds of flesh.

She was thin and weak and paid one dollar for a bottle of Scott's Emulsion, and by taking regular doses had gained twelve pounds in weight before the bottle was finished.

Eight cents a pound is cheap for such valuable material. Some pay more, some less, some get nothing for their money. You get your money's worth when you buy Scott's Emulsion.

We will send you a little free.

The Famous French Novelist Succumbs to the Fumes of Gas From a Defective Stove.

MME. ZOLA ALSO FOUND UNCONSCIOUS.

They had just returned From Their country home and ordered a Fire Lighted in a Stove in Their Chamber—A Doe in the Room Escaped.

Paris, Sept. 30.—Emil Zola, the novelist, who gained additional prominence in recent years because of his defense of the Jews and of former Capt. Dreyfus, was found dead in his Paris home Monday morning. Asphyxiation resulting from the fumes from a stove in his room is given as the cause. M. Zola and his wife retired at ten o'clock Sunday night.

Emile Zola was seriously ill when the room was lighted on Monday morning. At about noon she was removed to a private hospital, where she recovered consciousness for a short time, and was able briefly to explain to a magistrate what had happened. M. and Mme. Zola returned to Paris from their country house at Medan, Sunday, owing to a sudden spell of cold weather the heating stove in their bed room was ordered to be lighted. The stove burned badly, and the pipes of the stove are said to have been out of order.

To the magistrate Mme. Zola explained that she awoke Monday morning with a splitting headache. She awakened her husband, and asked him to open a window. She saw him struggle to get up, and then he lay down again. She went to the window, but he staggered and fell to the floor unconscious. Mme. Zola fainted at the same moment and was taken to the hospital.

Mme. Zola does not yet know of her husband's death, and it is feared she may suffer a relapse when informed of it. It is thought, however, that she will recover.

Death Caused Great Sensation.
The death of M. Zola, which only became generally known late Monday afternoon, has caused a great sensation in Paris, and in the evening there was a constant stream of callers at the Zola residence.

Death Was Accidental.
The commissary of police who was summoned to the Zola residence said in his report to the prefect of Paris: "The heating stove was not lighted, and there was no odor of gas. It is believed that M. Zola's death was accidental, and not the result of poisoning by drugs. A little dog found in the bed room is alive."

Commercial Routes Taking Action to Have Denmark Properly Represented at St. Louis Show.

Copenhagen, Sept. 30.—An important meeting of the representatives of commercial concerns took place here Monday in connection with the St. Louis exposition. Admiral Riebeck, head of the Danish shipping lines and other enterprises, has taken the initiative in waking up the Scandinavians to the importance of being properly represented at the exposition.

The meeting was attended by United States Minister Swensen, the presidents of the manufacturers' associations, the presidents of the banks, Commissioner Wernersson, of St. Louis, and many other influential persons. It was decided to convene a public meeting at which a committee will be organized to urge on the Danish government the necessity of making an appropriation to provide for Denmark's official representation.

THURSDAY, OCT. 2, 1902.

THE Texas oil fields have gotten somewhat beyond the boom stage and upon a business basis, and the product is vastly below the prophecies for that region. Much money has been sunk in search of Texas oil that has yielded nothing. Coal remains King and will continue to drive the locomotives of commerce.

THE newspaper fraternity of Kentucky generally will deplore the loss of John H. Westover, of Williamstown, who has sold all his property with the purpose of making his future home at Oregon City, Oregon, where he will re-enter the newspaper business. Mr. Westover is one of the ex-presidents of the Kentucky Press Association and has been for years prominent in politics in his section. Here's wishing John and his good wife and the twins all the good things the wide west affords. They deserve them.

It is hard to tell who will settle the anthracite strike in his own sweet way first; the editor of the Louisville Post with his contribution box or Lawyer Chapin, of Boston, who threatens to have a receiver appointed for every operator in the business and the mines turned over to the strikers at once. Since Senator Hanna and the Pennsylvania Senators failed many novices have tried their hands at suggestion but the anthracite properties continue under the management of their owners and their output steadily increases.

WHILE in Madisonville this week we heard a gentleman make the remark that "money could buy everything." It can buy many things, we admit, but not everything. It cannot buy an honest man, be he judge, juror or laborer; it cannot buy a place that will make an unworthy man honorable; it cannot purchase a pew in a wealthy church, but it cannot purchase a guiltless conscience; it cannot buy a balm that will soothe the broken heart; it cannot gain the heart's affection of any woman or child or buy a happy home. Money cannot buy the dearest things life holds nor can it bribe death or secure a mansion in heaven for the soul's eternal dwelling place. Don't be deceived. Do not make the pursuit of money the chief aim in life, for it will lead to disappointment and sorrow here and untold misery hereafter.

Dixie in the 20th Century

Is the subject of Rev. J. L. Hill's famous lecture, which will be given at Temple Theatre Thursday night, Oct. 9th. Rev. Hill was formerly pastor of the Christian church at Madisonville and has quite a number of friends there who will be present the night of the lecture. The newspapers comment favorably on this lecture and it will no doubt be both instructive and interesting. Let the people of Earlington turn out to this lecture and give Rev. Hill a full house.

Gov. Beckham has approved the selection of the Villa Ridge Inn property as a location for the Kentucky Confederate Home. His approval was announced in a letter to Col. Bennett H. Young, president of the Confederate Home Commission.

QUEER PEOPLE OF ASIA.

The Ladies of Chinese Turkestan have Customs Entirely Different from the Chinese.

Writing of the Ladies of Chinese Turkestan Rev. W. M. Upton says: "The men wear a loose blue and white, short trousers, made of blue cotton cloth, over which a stout plaited felt cloak is thrown, which reaches from the neck to the knees, and is useful by day in cold or wet weather and at night forms an ample covering." As far as I remember they wear long trousers, too. To quote again from the same writer: "One peculiar feature is the manner of dressing the hair. Instead of wearing a queue in the way adopted by the Chinese the Ladies allow the hair to grow long in the front, then braid it into a kind of horn about the forehead, so that it becomes the most conspicuous object about them.

Their women folk wear a short jacket, often finely embroidered, over a plaited skirt, not unlike a Scotch kilt. Their feet and ankles are bare—a fine contrast to the cramped, deformed feet of the Chinese women. They have well-formed figures and even features. The ease with which they go about their work attracts the attention and wins the admiration of the traveler.

On this special occasion I found the whole family sitting around a big log fire, watching the cooking of a cow, which had died from the cold, in an enormous iron pot. When they considered the carcass cooked the housewife took a big wooden spoon several feet long and shoveled the contents of the pot into small tubs, which were placed before each man, likewise a good supply of rice.

Wooden spoons were used in eating; chopsticks I did not see. The tubs were carefully watched and replenished as soon as a diminution became noticeable. When the principal performers could no longer indulge the tubs were passed to the younger and inferior members of the household, and between them all they managed to put out or eight both cow and rice. Beds were not in use, so I was offered the use of a grain chest—quite a dignified place compared with the rest.

The War Upon Disease.

Medicine is engaged upon an endless combat with endless foes. One disease is banished from our midst, hydra-like another dread disorder rises to replace it. Sanitation, as though, while sanitation and bacteriology were defeating the enemies which preyed upon lung and alimentary canal, the racks of disease are to be recruited from foes whose straits fall chiefly upon the brain and upon the spinal cord.—London Lancet.

Matter of Geography.

"How often does the earth have a revolution?" asked the teacher. "What part of the earth?" inquired the pupil.

"Yes?" "If you mean in the United States, every 24 hours; but if you mean in South America, they have 'em often."—Philadelphia Record.

Huddling Henderson.

The executive committee of the Elks' carnival will run a boom train out of Henderson Friday, stopping at all stations on the L. & N. It will reach Earlington some time during the morning and stop over 30 minutes. The train will leave Henderson at 7:30 a. m. and remain out all day. The object is not only to boom the carnival, but draw trade for the Henderson merchants. A full brass band will accompany the train.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver. The animal will be cured, if it is possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if given in time. It costs 25 cents a can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. It works better. Give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

ed, yet last Saturday the strikers held up a coal train and troops were called in to give protection while the same was being moved, and this was done almost under the very nose of Mitchell, who was in the state the same day holding a consultation.

Much sympathy is expressed by the miners for Mr. and Mrs. Cloren in their sad bereavement of the loss of a son by typhoid fever.

A remarkable story comes from Lexington, Ky., that there is a belief around Prospect Hill that the secrecy surrounding the mine development for zinc and spar there indicates that the mine really contains gold.

A fuel called briquettes, composed of brown coal, peat and waste from the coal mines, was manufactured in Germany last year to the extent of 1,500,230 tons and sold at $3.17 a ton. These briquettes are the principal domestic fuel in Berlin and other German cities. They are clean and convenient to handle, light quickly and burn with a clear, intense flame without smoke. Their use makes Berlin, though a large manufacturing city, one of the cleanest in Europe.

Street Fair.

The Madisonville, Ky., Lodge of Elks following the precedent set by other Elks Lodges throughout the country has arranged to give a Street Fair and Carnival. The event which will be made a holiday in all the name implies, will be held in Madisonville, during the week commencing Monday, Oct. 13 and ending Saturday, October 19th. The event which will be given afternoon and evening and the famous Robinson Carnival Co., of Cincinnati, which has conducted some of the most successful street fairs in the country has been secured to furnish the attractions for the Madisonville Carnival. Mr. George A. Goben, a well known Cincinnati newspaper man, is now in Madisonville arranging the details for the coming event. There will be ten or more high class up-to-date shows not including the three or more absolutely free attractions which have been secured at great expense. Orocco, who ascends and descends a spiral tower while incased in a globe only 28 inches in diameter, and Prof. Lewis, champion high diver of the world, who takes a back somersault from a ladder 90 feet high into a tank of water less than 4 feet deep.

Other attractions that will be presented will be Adolph Seaman's $20,000 Crystal Maze, under the Red Dome, Lunetta, the flying lady, the American glass blowers, Prince Lulu, the smallest woman in the world, the Electric Palace showing moving pictures of President McKinley's funeral, the eruption of Mt. The Madisonville fair will run excursions to Madisonville during Carnival week and every business house and many residences in Madisonville will be profusely decorated.

A good time is assured everybody who attends.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. The only remedy known to us is an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. The inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be restored forever; nine cases out of ten are cured by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

No! I did not ask for a bottle any cheaper, or twice as large, or one made by yourself. I did ask for and will not have any substitute for Perry Davis' Painkiller; I have used it, my father used it and I would be surprised if my grandpapa did not so; there it is inimitable that can equal it. That is I am sure of—Foley's Painkiller.

BLUE G. BARD.

He sat in his door at noonday, Looking weary and very sad, The flies around him were buzzing, Led by a blue wing gaid.

Not a creature darkened his portal, And he gazed with gloomy sadness Far away in the ambient air.

At last in his misery he shouted, "Great Scott! I'm alone with the flies!" And the angels gently whispered, "Why don't you advertise?"

"Money would soon fill your pockets, Just try it while we see The wonderful results obtained By placing an ad in the Bee."

Cautions

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are to not purchase for the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale in the world since 1898 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and especially for Consumption, where its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to it. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup—and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectation and coughing during the nights and morning, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in this world.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

In the United States newspapers are printed regularly in 24 different languages.

Chicago is fast becoming a literary center, and judging from statistics her book lovers are many. The public libraries show a circulation of 2,230,633 books during the past year. The Ohio State Journal states that there are in the United States about 10,000 women authors. We have heard from a good many of them and cherish some among our warmest friends—but 10,000! How do they all earn butter for their bread?

Henri d'Almeida has written a book full of anecdotes about French men of genius, their failures and successes. One thing they have all in common—a capacity for hard work. He instances Bourget, who, as a young man, used to get up at three and work till seven. Then he gave lessons all day long, and in the evening he was at his desk again, writing till late at night.

On several occasions lately Conan Doyle, while walking in London, has been mistaken for Lord Kitchener, much to the author's embarrassment. Once he was nearly mobbed by a yelling crowd of enthusiasts, who cheered madly for "the hero of South Africa." By the way, it has seldom fallen to the lot of man to reach affluence in a literary career so early in life as has been the case with Sir Conan. He is only 43, kilted and popular.

Paul Du Chailin, kindest and most cheerful of travelers, has been living in Russia for the last year busied in the collection of material for a book dealing with that country. He means to devote three or four years more to this preparation, perfecting himself in the language, of which he already has an excellent knowledge, and living among all classes of the population.

By request from Rev. T. C. Tupper, chaplain at the United States prison in Atlanta, Ga., Mark Twain has given a six-volume edition of his books to the library supplied for the prisoners. "I would gladly send the other set," writes Mr. Clemens to Mr. Tupper, "the complete one, if it would cost me $55—there is no cheap edition. The newspapers are trying to make me out a rich man, but the continued discrepancy between my income and my outgo convinces me that they are not succeeding."

TROPICAL FRUITS IN CUBA.

A Large Variety Grown in the Island Which May Be the Basis of a Great Industry.

A great commerce is yet to be developed in Cuba in the line of tropical fruits. The oranges are the best in the world, of rich flavor and full of juice, growing in great profusion, never in danger from frost and furnishing a crop that can be counted upon. There is no doubt that oranges will become one of the future important exports of the island. The banana has already been made an extensive fruit of commerce, whole shiploads are carried from the West Indies to the farthest regions of the temperate zone and the trade is steadily increasing, says the New York Observer. It is a most nourishing fruit, and we do not know half of its uses. The natives of Cuba roast and boil the banana and use it in place of bread.

The pineapple grows wild in Cuba but it is tamed and cultivated with great success. We know nothing of this king of fruits in our northern clime. A pineapple or two with bread and coffee make a delicious breakfast, appetizing, invigorating, satisfying. The fruit grows upon a single stem, which rises a foot or 18 inches from the ground. The plant bears only one fruit each year, but will continue to bear for several years when it is cultivated. It is multiplied by planting slips as cabbages or lettuce are grown.

Northern palates do not readily assimilate the sweet and luscious tropical fruits, though some become fond of guava jelly, especially when it is served with cream cheese, and others enjoy the acid of the tamarind. It requires a residence in warm countries where the system obtains constant moisture and is benefited by frequent use of sweet and juicy fruits, to acquire a thorough taste for the mango, the sapote, the custard apple, pomegranate, citron, green fig, cocoanut, breadfruit and other tropical fruits. Nothing can surpass the flavor and healthfulness the orange and the pine apple, where they are natives, but all of these other fruits mentioned have only to be known to be worth the weather to be enjoyed, and if properly prepared and moderately eaten they are most healthful. Too many travelers gorge themselves with unknown fruits, mixing sweet and sour and using no sense or judgment in their choice, and then wonder that nature revenges herself for the abuse of her bounties and the breach of her simplest laws. The United Fruit company has acquired large tracts of land in Cuba and if the island secures under the new regime a stable government and reasonable prosperity the United States will enjoy in a large measure the benefits of the change by an increased importation on favorable terms of some of the most precious of God to man, flowers and fruits and all agricultural and forest productions.

NEWS

FOR

Colored People

By Rev. J. H. GOSSET.

The District Association has adjourned and its members have returned to their homes delighted with the visit to our little city.

Some of the distinguished visitors to the Association were Revs. W. M. Underwood, of India; Franks, of Louisville; W. M. Steward, of Louisville, and several others.

Rev. Williams, D. D., of Hopkinsville, spoke to the miners Monday night to the delight of all who heard him. Dr. Williams is a deep thinker and a powerful persuader. He takes what might be considered a middle stand to harmonize the white and the colored people. His subject was "Happiness to the Human Family." The speaker said in part that one might as well jump against a buzz saw as to jump against the law with the expectation of not getting punished for his wrongs. He spoke of several instances where the millionaire had received punishment for violating the law, as much so as the negro who violates the same law. He urged the colored people to be law abiding citizens and save up something for old age. He pleaded with the whites to give the negro justice and as much work as possible.

After the speaker finished his talk he called on his hearers to give vent to their feelings as to whether they had been benefited by the talk. Everyone expressed themselves as being highly benefited. Those present contributed $2 to the speaker.

Rev. E. Couch has two sick children. Also Henry Ray has two. Mrs. Celia Dunlap is slowly improving. Baby Aroane Prentice is very sick. Mrs. May Prentice is yet on the sick list. Mrs. Henrietta Collins is still improving, and her brother, William Drake, is some better. Earlington didn't look like Earlington Sunday. The people from all parts of the county were here to hear the Gospel preached. Ernest Noel and Miss Lizzie Aushorn, patients at the hospital, are improving fast. Little Mariel Ratcliff has been very sick, but she is able now to be out. Mesdames Fanny Wright, of Hecla, and Mary E. Shipp, of Danville, Ill., were called to Nashville by the death of their brother, Hartford Harrison, which took place on Sept. 18. Tom Love is on the sick list. Byron Clements moved to Oak Hill Sunday. Melford Hearns has moved to Crabtree. Parents should send their children to school while the weather is good. "Watch the Kidneys." "When they are affected, life is in danger," says Dr. Abernathy, the great English physician. Folio's Kidney Cure makes sound kidneys. Sold by John X. Taylor. Subscribe for THE BEE.

Grand Duke Boris says Chicago is big and ugly, but good-hearted. The same thing may be said of John L. Sullivan.

Danger is Fall Colds.

Fall colds are liable to hang on all winter, leaving the seeds of pneumonia, bronchitis or consumption. Folio's Honey and Tar cures quickly and prevents serious results. It is old and reliable, tried and tested, safe and sure, contains no opiates and will not constipate. Sold by John X. Taylor.

CHEAP RATES TO TEXAS.

On the first and third Tuesdays of each month the Cotton Belt will sell round trip tickets to Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Indian Territory at one fare, plus 25, for the round trip. Tickets will be limited to three weeks for return and will allow stopovers on the going trip. IN THE INTEREST

..Woman's Christian Temperance Union..

Edited by a White Ribboner.

It is most comforting to know that an aroused public sentiment was strong enough in the state of Kentucky to prevent that relic of barbarism, a prize fight, from taking place within its borders.

It is also interesting to know that there are ministers of the Gospel in the state who are courageous enough to enter a protest against such a desecration of the sacredness of the Sabbath as base ball games.

Very early in the history of the organization, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union learned that a want of reverence for Sunday as a sacred day, is one of the strongest allies of the liquor traffic, and Sunday Observance was made a department of the organization.

Who are the people who attend prize fights and Sunday baseball games? The crowds at each place will be found made up of identically the same people and at least 90 percent of these, the patrons of the saloon.

We wish it could be said that no professing Christian would be found at either place. Indeed, we wish it could be said that none are ever found in a saloon, but what are the facts? A travesty on the Christian religion over which angels must weep.

We can understand how the followers of the teachings of Robert Ingersoll can encourage Sunday ball games, but for those who profess to believe that the Bible is the inspired word of God, we can find no apology but that of a seared conscience. "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," has become to them a meaningless expression. The Savior while on earth recognized this weakness, not to use a stronger term, when he said: "Ye cannot serve two masters." It is this inconsistency on the part of those who profess His name that does the Christian church more harm than all the Ingersolls that ever lived. It is not the drunken inebriate in the gutter that perpetuates the saloon. It is the respectable moderate drinker, among whom, to their shame be it said, are to be found members of the church, and it is the patronage of this same class of people that renders prize fights and Sunday ball games possible.

It is most certainly to be hoped that the influence of the Y. M. C. A. and the combined influence of the church may prove strong enough to abolish the Sunday base ball, as well as its kindred spirit, the prize fight.

The Texas Story.

On Sunday, June 29, a number of the leading papers of Texas published an article of some length, under the caption of "Prohibition in America," and claiming to be "A history of the movement from colonial days to the present time."

In the Dallas News it occupied more than 40 column inches and was given a prominent three column display head. It appeared to be the result of an investigation of the subject by a regular contributor. [As the article in question made it appear that Prohibition had proven a failure wherever it had been tried, it created quite a stir among the temperance people.

Nevertheless, on close inspection, the ear-marks of fraud were plainly visible. For the purpose of learning the exact facts in the case, the New Voice sent a representative to Texas, who, after a careful investigation, obtained facts proving absolutely that the pretended "history" was a bogus affair, prepared and printed for the special purpose of deceiving the public; that it was paid for by the whiskey pool having an office in New York City, and that the "go-between" in the matter was J. W. Riggins, mayor of Waco, Tex., who poses as chairman of a pretended anti-Prohibition state executive committee.

To obtain still further information, on July 18 a decoy letter was also sent to a large number of Texas papers. This was in the form of a circular from an "advertising contractor," offering matter similar to the article in the Dallas News, to be printed "without advertising marks of any kind." This letter was signed by Clarence T. Johnson and purported to be from Washington, D. C. It stated that "The matter offered consists of arguments and statistics showing the failure of Prohibition in Texas and other states."

This circular letter was sent to about 500 papers of the state. It was not sent to any religious or educational papers, as they would not dare to print such matter. Neither was it sent to liquor papers, as they do not rank as reputable journals.

It is certainly cheering to note that many papers ignored the proposition entirely as being unworthy of consideration, and that others printed the letter and chastised the writer in strong English; but of the 500 papers receiving the proposition, 108 responded favorably, though differing on the terms named.

In its issue of September 11, the New Voice publishes a complete list of the 108 papers, with the names of the publisher or proprietor and editor, together with the terms on which each was willing to accept the matter. In its issues of September 4 and 11, the New Voice publishes many of the 108 replies to the Clarence T. Johnson letter.

Notwithstanding the fact of her 108 black sheep, Texas has a historical record which ought to put some of her sister states to shame. As early as 1808 this was made a part of the constitution: "Sec. 48. The legislature may prohibit the sale of all intoxicating liquors in the immediate vicinity of any college or seminary of learning, provided said college or seminary be located other than at a county seat or the state capital."

In 1876 a new constitution was adopted in which Sec. 20 reads: "The legislature shall, at its first session, enact a law whereby the qualified voters of any county, justice precinct, town or city, by a majority vote from time to time, may determine whether the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited within the prescribed limits."

This law was passed and has been amended from time to time, until the state now has probably the most stringent local option law in the country. That under this law for the past two years the counties have been rapidly giving Prohibition majorities, is what has aroused the activity of the liquor men.

Mayor Riggins, of Waco, will possibly learn that honesty is the best policy before he grows much older. On the evening of September 10, a resolution was introduced into the city council signed by seven of its ten members, calling for the impeachment of the mayor. The resolution contains nine counts against him, including incompetency, failure to carry out the instructions of the city council, and especially charging him with neglect of duty to enter the service of the liquor men in connection with the anti-Prohibition campaign. He was given until the evening of Sept. 11 to prepare his answer, when it was expected he would have his trial. Truly, the way of the transgressor is hard.

ANIMALS' NERVOUS CRISIS.

Many of Them are Affected in Much the Same Manner as Human Beings.

A veterinary surgeon, M. Lepiny, has called the attention of the Society of Hypnotism and Psychology to the importance of the mental pathology of animals. Nervous troubles among beasts may be produced as among us by different causes, reports La Nature.

A dog, whose history M. Lepiny gives, was put out to board at the commencement of the holidays each year, and upon his return to his home great care was necessary that the dog and its mistress did not come immediately in contact, for if they did a nervous crisis occurred which lasted for several months. Here is a case of nervous trouble provoked by fear, and related by Dr. Hyger, the subject being one of his canary birds. The bird was singing happily in its cage, when a cat suddenly entered the room and fell upon the cage and knocked it to the floor. The doctor put the cat to flight before the bird was wounded or even touched, but the shock had been such that the canary lay without movement or voice in the bottom of the cage, and only after sprinkling it with cold water was life restored. It then became alive, and in a moment or two commenced to hop and jump as before. It had, however, become suddenly mute, complete aphonia having developed. This condition persisted for several weeks, and then as suddenly as he had lost it the bird regained his voice and again exercised his full musical powers.

A traumatic shock can also produce hysteria. Very often a dog which is the victim of an accident becomes lame without there being any symptom to explain the manifestations, and after killing the animal the autopsy has disclosed a lesion sufficiently serious to produce the lameness. Dr. Hyger presents another case having the same origin. A cat, nine months of age, was killed by a dog. The cat sank down at once, as if paralyzed, and from this time moved only by dragging its hind quarters, the position of the trunk and the hind legs being completely paralyzed, as well as the tail. Two months after the accident a servant, wishing to see if paralyzed cats, similarly so well cats, always fell on their feet, threw the poor beast from the first story window. The cat fell on its feet and scampered away on all fours. The blow of the new emotion had completely cured its paralysis.

Lightning striking a stable has often produced insignificant burns and wounds, followed by "excesses of grave hysteria, most frequently a paralysis or a contraction. These accidents have been especially studied by M. Huet, and in his account one observes undeniable nervous troubles. M. Aroux, of the veterinary school of Milan, has related several cases, the subjects being dogs, which manifested very accentuated nervous troubles under the impression of fright, rebuke or jealousy.

Difficult Part.

"What is the most difficult feature of your art?" asked the inquisitive person. "Finding a victim who is willing to give up real money for a picture," replied the undiscovered artist.—Chicago Daily News.

Craftiness of the Fox.

A fox is said to be as crafty, and prefers the tongues of lambs for food. He has been seen to chase sheep until they, on becoming tired, hang out their tongues, which he then tears off and eats.—Nature.

His Point of View.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Temple For the Week Beginning Oct.

5.—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—A searching question.—John xxi, 15-16.

There are a number of very interesting scenes in this twenty-first chapter of the gospel of John. The most important of these is the conversation of Christ with Simon Peter concerning His love for him. His evident forgiveness of his denial and His recognition of Peter as one of the apostles. The closing scene is very touching indeed. Christ prophesies the death of Peter as a martyr. The apostle then asks Him concerning John, to which Jesus replies: "It will suffice thee till I come, what is that to thee? Follow thou Me." Christ did not mean to say that Peter was one of the apostles. He simply meant in this way to emphasize to Simon Peter the important fact that the Christ concerns to him should be his personal relation to the Master and not the future destiny of some one. This is undoubtedly the great lesson of the searching question of the topic, which is, "What is that to thee?" Christ followed this question with the command, "Follow thou Me" And this command is the matter of supreme importance to all His disciples.

Individual and personal responsibility to God and to Jesus Christ is constantly emphasized in the word of God. It is the foundation of the Christian's life. It is not to deal with men in the mass, but as individuals. This makes our relation to God a very important question. When Daniel Webster was asked, "What is the most important question that ever occupied your mind?" he replied, "My individual responsibility to God." If Christ had said such emphasis on this subject, and if the greatest American orator considered it of the supreme importance, it is certainly worth while for us to consider our personal and individual responsibility to God in Christ absolutely regardless of the relation or responsibility of others to Him. Too many people make the mistake of losing sight of their own responsibility to God, unnecessarily considering the responsibility and relations of others to God. Libanus, the Greek philosopher, might have been converted to Christianity had it not been for the inconsistency of professing Christians. Yet it is easily recognized that he was in no way responsible for them, and the one question that he should have considered was his personal and individual relation to Christ. What was that to him? He should have followed Christ.

1. The salvation of the soul is a personal matter between Christ and the individual. It is absolutely impossible for one person to be saved through or by another. The wise virgins could not give of their oil to the foolish ones who had neglected to obtain it. The responsibility was upon them, and no one else could make up for them what they had neglected. Each one must be saved or lost upon his own responsibility.

2. Christian work is an individual matter. Christ taught that there was "to every man his work." No one can do the work of another any more than he can fulfill the requirements of the plan of salvation for another. There is a work for each one of us to do, and we will be held personally responsible for the accomplishment of it or the failure to do it.

3. The judgment of the future is also an individual matter. It is divinely taught that each one must render an account of himself unto God. We will not be called upon to account for others, and no more will it be possible for us to carry the responsibility which rests upon ourselves. These things being true, the full importance of Christ's question and His command in connection with it should enter into our minds. Instead of being unduly interested in the relation of others to Christ and in their future destiny we should above all things else consider how to meet the requirements and obligations that devolve upon us personally, and this can be done only by personally accepting Christ and by faithfully following Him.

BIBLE READINGS.

Matt. iv, 18-22; xxi, 14-30; Mark ii, 14; Acts xvi, 25-31; Rom. ii, 1-6; xiv, 12; Gal. vi, 1-5; I Pet. 1-5; Rev. ii, 10; xxii, 12.

Expecting Disaster.

Many Christians are continually living in an atmosphere of dread. They expect disaster. Every occurrence of their lives is scanned with a fearful eye. They thought seems to be: "I wonder what trouble is in store for me now?" Somehow they forget the promise, "All things work together for good." If they see in their sky a cloud the of a mere hand, they never dream of looking for the silver lining, but straightway hide themselves. While they are hidden the silver lining appears, but they are not looking, and the heavens remain dark for them. Their opportunity is gone. They reap only sorrow, while their neighbors, who were rejoicing in trust in God and experience of His love. It does not pay to expect disaster.—Episcopal Recorder.

Patience.

Patience is a virtue for which there is no substitute. There is often no other way out of a difficulty than the way of patience. But this really is a most gracious way when the sufferer finds it. Nor is it a way which any one need be ashamed to take, for our Lord recommends it—"In your patience ye shall win your souls." He knows that there is often nothing left to us but this one thing, patience. We must use it. We must win our souls, our very lives, by it.—Presbyterian Journal.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON 1, FOURTH QUARTER, INTER-

NATIONAL SERIES, OCT. 5.

Text of the Lesson, Josh. i, 1-11.
Memory Verses, 8, 9.—Golden Text,
Josh. i, 8.—Commentary prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

(Copyright, 1902, by American Press Association.)

1. 2. The Lord took Joshua, the son of Nun, Moses' minister.

This is to be the heart of these two verses and of the whole lesson and of the whole Bible—the Lord hath spoken. Note the thrilling words in Isa. i, 2, "Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth, for the Lord hath spoken," and compare Deut. xxxii, 1; Ps. i, 1; Heb. i, 1, 2. In the man whom the Lord regards with favor is the man with a poor and contrite spirit, who trembles at His word, not those who with the boldness of the devil deceive and criticize and minimize His word, deterring the assurance that He had given to the Jews. He bids Joshua as his leader to arise and cross over Jordan. God is their leader, Joshua is His servant.

3. 4. Every place that the sole of your foot shall tread upon that have I given unto you. I and my sword.

And again He defines the boundary as in Gen. xxi, 38. The purpose of God are, like Himself, eternal. His command stands and He does all His pleasure (Eph. iii, 11; Ps. xxiii, 11; Isa. xlv, 10). He who from all eternity, before the world was, had planned when He would do it desires men and women who will let Him work in them both to will and to do, having no ambition, no pride, no self-interest, to be good clay in the loving and all-wise potter's hands, believing His every word, or, in the language of this passage, taking possession of all that He says is yours.

5. As I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee. Joshua had seen as Moses' minister some of the Lord's dealings with him, and he would doubtless feel that this gracious assurance covered him completely need or desire. Unto all Israel and to Joshua Moses had given very similar words of encouragement (Deut. xxi, 23-25), but now God Himself speaks to His servant Joshua as He had previously spoken to him by Moses, and the words are the same as we shall see in these following verses. Some say, "Oh, if I could only hear God speak to me!" not believing that He will. He is as if speaking to them as if he heard an audible voice from heaven.

6. 7. Only be thou strong and very courageous.

See this command repeated in each of these verses, with the assurance that the Lord will be with him. He would accomplish through Joshua. So there was nothing for Joshua to do but to believe and go obediently forward. He had no struggle, but God Himself had all the strength, and Joshua had learned or was learning to say, "In the Lord." 1. righteousness and strength, and that it was his privilege to "be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might" (Isa. xiv, 24; Eph. vi, 10). The Lord will be with him in the assurance of Ps. xlii, 11, "The Lord will give strength unto His people, the Lord will bless His people with peace."

8. This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth, but thou shalt meditate therein day and night.

The first two psalms which form a preface to the whole book of Psalms, or, rather, to the five books of Psalms, begin with "Blessed is the man" and end with "Blessed are all they that put their trust in Him." The life of the godly man as set forth in the First Psalm was fully manifested in the man of Nazareth, the Lord Jesus Christ, and was never fully manifested in any other. Let our meditation of this Psalm be so that we may be as fully as possible. The life of Jesus should be seen in us (I Cor. ii, 10, 11). We are only as we let His word dwell in us richly and meditate on it continually and are able to say, "Oh, how love I Thy law! It is my meditation all the day" (Ps. cxix, 97). He has said that if we love Him we will keep His word (John xiv, 23), and the only place to keep it is in our hearts.

9. Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage. Be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed, for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest.

The assurance that God sends and that He is with us covers every thing. It is the greatest that mortals can have. It was God's encouragement to Moses, and now to Joshua, and later to Gideon and to Jeremiah (Ex. iii, 12; Judg. vi, 14, 16; Jer. i, 7, 8). It was also the great encouragement of Jesus Himself when here in His humiliation (John vii, 20), and before He returned to heaven He assured His followers that they had all power in heaven and on earth and that He would be with them all the days (Matt. xxviii, 20:20). If we believe His word, we shall neither be afraid nor dismayed nor discouraged.

10. Within three days ye shall pass over this Jordan, ye shall come to the land which the Lord your God giveth you to possess it.

Thus Joshua commanded the officers of the people, for he believed God. The land was theirs as a free gift from God, but they had to enter it and appropriate it. Jordan was before them to be crossed, and the walled cities and the giants were still there, but there was no difficulty to God or to those who, like Joshua and Caleb, see God only. In our own case as believers in Jesus Christ, redeemed by His blood, it is our duty to appropriate His promises and by faith in Him live lives of victory over sin and sin's life. May the encouraging words of our lesson come home to each of us in the power of the Spirit.
